

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to express my interest in a front-end development role. As a Front-End Development student at Noroff, I have spent the last year transforming ideas into interactive and visually engaging digital experiences. Along the way, I've learned how to combine thoughtful design with clean, functional code, and a balance that I genuinely love working with.

What motivates me most is the process of turning a blank screen into something meaningful. Whether it's structuring clear HTML, crafting layouts with CSS, or adding life and logic with JavaScript, I enjoy the challenge of creating interfaces that feel intuitive and enjoyable to use. My studies have also strengthened my understanding of accessibility, responsive design, and modern development practices, and I'm always eager to explore new tools and techniques.

I'm a curious, detail-oriented learner who thrives in environments where creativity and problem-solving go hand in hand. I enjoy collaborating with others but am equally comfortable working independently and taking ownership of my tasks. I'm confident that my enthusiasm for front-end development, along with my dedication to producing thoughtful, user-centered work, would make me a strong addition to any development team.

Thank you for taking the time to review my application. I would love the opportunity to contribute, grow, and continue building meaningful digital experiences as part of your team.

Kind regards,
Mila Vasshus
